HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II, members of the second group of astronauts appointed by the government were named pilot and co-pilot of next spring's second two-man Gemini space flight Monday.

An experienced Mercury astronaut had been expected to draw the pilot's assignment, but illnesses and broken bones knocked the older spacemen off the crew.

Leroy Gordon Cooper Jr., who set an American record of 34 hours on the final one-man Mercury flight, was the only member of the original seven-man Mercury team available for Monday's assignment. The Manned Spacecraft Center offered no explanation of why Cooper was passed over.

Churchill Closes Political Career

LONDON (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill closed out Monday his career in Britain's Parliament, his lifelong stage and springboard into history.

Bent but smiling, he shuffled slowly to his seat in the House of Commons for what was probably his last time as a member. The house, its members apparently mindful of no cheers of theirs could live up to the historic occasion, continued with its business.

Tuesday members will vote a rare and undoubtedly unanimous tribute to the man who has always described himself as "a child of the House of Commons."

Fulbright Book Hints Red Help

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman J. W. Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations committee raises the possibility in a book out Tuesday that the Soviet Union might join with the United States and other nations to build and operate a sea-level canal across Central America.

The Arkansas Democrat says he is not advocating Soviet participation in a new canal project but "neither do I think it must be ruled out as unthinkable."

The United States, he declared, should definitely consider having the new waterway built by a consortium — a partnership of governments — and then suggests that the Soviet Union as a user of the Panama Canal might be a member of the consortium.

Philly Attorney Backs Police

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The city solicitor advised the Pennsylvania Police Chiefs Association Monday not to waver if confronted by racial disorders similar to those now troubling Rochester and New York City.

Edward G. Bauer Jr., Philadelphia solicitor, told the 700 officers at the 51st annual convention here that the city "stands 100 per cent behind law enforcement officers who must use weapons to defend their lives."

"Few police overstep their rights and are reckless with firearms," Bauer said, and "the rights and privileges of all people are imperiled when some people resort to violence."

Portuguese Toll Reduced To 89

OPORTO, Portugal (AP)—A revised death toll of 89 was announced Monday night in Portugal's worst railway disaster, the derailment of a single car loaded beyond its capacity. Hospital officials reported nearly 100 others were injured.

The latest death figure was announced by the health ministry after a check of hospital and morgue figures that had put the total as high as 113.

The rear car came uncoupled, at a curve Sunday night, crashed from side to side against walls bordering the track, then barreled down an embankment with its human cargo of more than 250 terrified passengers and smashed into a stone abutment. Officials said the car's capacity was 68.

Markets Drop In Consolidation

NEW YORK (AP)—A sluggish stock market took a fairly sharp loss Monday as Wall Street's financial analysts saw the list as going through a further "consolidation" of its large gain early this month.

The Dow Jones industrial average fell 4.59 to 841.05. Brokers took the setback in stride, however, remarking that the volume of 4.09 million shares was pretty light for 1964.

Barry Seeks GOP Unity

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater announced Monday night a bid for party unity to strengthen his campaign for the White House and the drives of all GOP candidates.

The Arizona senator announced this aim after meeting for 2 hours and 20 minutes with his running mate, Rep. William E. Miller of New York, Republican National Chairman Dean Burch and top campaign advisers.

Series of Meetings
The Republican nominee said he and Miller will meet with GOP congressional leaders with all the party's members of both House and Senate, with Republican governors and with other GOP leaders including former president Dwight D. Eisenhower.

He said the series of meetings will be held "in the interest of the campaign, of all Republican

U. S. To Send More Soldiers To Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The government announced Monday night that the United States has agreed to increase immediately the number of military and civilian advisers in this war-torn country and to send additional equipment.

The wording of the announcement made it clear the new American aid would be of the same type it has been since 1961, although greater in quantity.

No new combat role was foreseen for the American troops, who would continue to serve as advisers and in supporting roles.

How Many?
Neither the Vietnamese government nor U.S. officials would say how many new U.S. personnel are expected here. A U.S. spokesman said, however, that the arrival of personnel would be gradual, and the number now planned might be changed with developing circumstances.

The Vietnamese government has been calling for a broader offensive against the Viet Cong. Several military leaders have proposed attacks on Communist North Viet Nam.

Ranger Moonshot Delayed To Today

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—Noise interference in a ground-based guidance transmitter Monday forced a 24-hour postponement of an attempt to launch the Ranger 7 spacecraft on a picture-taking mission to the moon.

The launching was rescheduled for Tuesday between 11:50 a.m. and 1:58 p.m. (EST).

The launch crew had a similar short period in which to launch the Atlas-Agena booster rocket on the desired course Monday but could not correct the trouble in time. The countdown on the 10-story-tall rocket had advanced to within 22 minutes of liftoff when the problem developed.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said a high noise level, something like

Senate Rejects Finance Reports

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate rejected a proposed new financial disclosure rule Monday night in favor of establishing a commission to study how best to prevent conflicts of interest among all federal employees.

By a vote of 48-39, it adopted a motion of Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., to send the proposed new rule back to the Rules Committee with instructions that it report forthwith a measure to set up a 17-member commission on ethics in the federal government.

Income Disclosure
The new rule, requiring senators and top Senate employees to disclose annually their major outside financial interests, had been recommended by the committee in a report on its Bobby Baker investigation.

The commission measure will candidates' campaigns and in the interest of unity in the party.

Goldwater and Miller met newsmen after the long strategy talk and said the Reps' "can running mates are inviting GOP members of the House and Senate to Capitol Hill breakfast meetings on Aug. 6 and 7 to discuss the presidential campaign plans and "anything else on the minds" of the congressmen.

'GOP Summit'

Goldwater said plans are being formulated for a so-called Republican summit meeting, but no time or place has been set.

"We would like to include all Republican governors," Goldwater said.

That would include Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton and New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who challenged Goldwater for the nomination.

Goldwater said Eisenhower, former vice president Richard M. Nixon and other party leaders will be invited but the full guest list has not yet been compiled.

Arizona Kickoff

The senator said he still hopes to formally kick off his campaign in Prescott, Ariz., about 100 miles from his Phoenix home, where he launched both his campaigns for the senate.

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said Monday the racial violence that has wracked this city, leaving 4 dead and 350 injured, is "clear evidence of extremism that cannot be justified."

After touring Rochester's riot-ridden area, the governor termed his reaction one of "shock and great sadness."

"As governor and as a citizen, I deplore this kind of violence. This is not the way to achieve progress in a democratic society."

After touring the riot area, the governor met with county and city officials, and leaders of the National Guard and state police.

Meanwhile, the city remained an armed camp although quiet returned after two nights of rioting by Negro mobs.

Red Urged Negroes To Kill Policemen

NEW YORK (AP)—A Puerto Rican detective said Monday he attended a secret Harlem meeting at the height of racial riots last week and heard calls for the slaying of police and judges.

Detective John Rivera told a state supreme court hearing on an injunction against Harlem demonstrations that the violence was urged by William Ep-ton, a self-described Communist, told the meeting "The state must be smashed" and warned, "We're going to have to kill cops and judges."

The quotes were tape recorded by Rivera as he infiltrated the meeting to gain information for police to nip violence before it began.

Portions of the tape were played back at the hearing. Meanwhile, the police department began increasing its Negro force in Harlem in compliance with a promise made last week by Mayor Robert F. Wagner in an effort to stem the racial rioting.

Epton was arrested Saturday for attempting to conduct a march in Harlem in defiance of a police department ban.

The commission would have to make a final report within two years and its recommendations could include measures for the disclosure of private financial interests as well as other steps to prevent conflicts of interest.

The vote marked the second upset by the Senate of the Rules Committee's recommendations following its politically explosive probe of Baker's money-making deals before he resigned his $19,600-a-year Senate post.

Last Friday the Senate amended its rules to establish a select bipartisan committee to serve as a permanent unit to investigate any charges of improper or illegal conduct by senators and Senate employees.

The rules committee had proposed that it be given continued jurisdiction to handle such investigations.

FIRST FATALITY — Reportedly the first civilian fatality in the 30-year history of Mt. Pocono Airport took place last night when a single-engine private plane went down in a rhododendron thicket about one mile north of Rt. 611. A passenger, Francis J. Panzarello, of Wilkes-Barre, perished in the crash. Three others were badly burned. Mt. Pocono Fireman Ronald Lutz uses an extinguisher on the blazing magnesium metal of the plane's fuselage. Panzarello is in the center, the plane's log book below him.

1 Dead, 3 Burned In Airplane Crash

MT. POCONO — A Wilkes-Barre man was killed and three people burned when a single-engine private plane crashed on takeoff at 8:43 p.m. last night from the Mt. Pocono Airport.

Pinned in the flaming crash and burned beyond recognition was Francis J. Panzarello of 234 E. Northampton St., Wilkes-Barre. He was pronounced dead at the scene.

He was co-owner of the plane with Carl Roos, 58, of 611 Wyoming Ave., Wyoming, taken to the General Hospital of Monroe County with burns, but in satisfactory condition.

James J. Gallagher Jr., about 46, a registered flying instructor and wholesale florist in Wilkes-Barre, was identified as the pilot of the plane. He was in satisfactory condition in the hospital.

Daughter Burned
His daughter, Mary Elizabeth (Molly) Gallagher, 19, a waitress at Mo-Nom-O-Nock Inn in Mountainhome was in serious condition in the hospital with severe burns of her face and arms.

The Gallaghers live at 76 Yates St., Forty-Fort, Gallagher had reportedly flown to the airport to take his daughter home.

John Gallagher, 16, a son of the pilot, said at his Forty-Fort home that his father runs Gallagher and Stevick Inc. in Wilkes-Barre, a wholesale seed and flower firm.

He said his father had taught Roos how to fly.

Crash In Wood
The plane, according to eyewitness reports to firemen, was taking off from Mt. Pocono Airport heading north over Rt. 611 when it suddenly dipped and vanished. It appeared above the trees momentarily and then crashed into the woods, the eyewitness reportedly said.

Airport attendant Vince Resky said late last night that the plane took off properly but apparently could not gain altitude.

He said the engine sounded "at full power" up until the crash. Ronald Ritter, a salad chef at High Point Inn, was one of the first to reach the scene. He said last night that he had helped get the injured out.

Miss Gallagher was badly burned, he reported, and had to be carried out through the thick undergrowth into which the plane went down.

One of the injured men, Ritter said, walked the 100 yards to the nearest road. The other, he continued, walked part way before he collapsed and had to be carried. Both men, Ritter reported, seemed to be badly burned.

Victim Trapped
Ritter also said that the victim was apparently trapped beneath the engine of the craft.

Firemen from Coolbaugh Twp. and Mt. Pocono were at the scene. They carried extinguishers through the nearly impenetrable rhododendron thickets to the scene of the crash, stumbling and falling in the thick brush.

The magnesium metal of the plane, burning with a white light, resisted efforts of firemen to put it out.

Chief Ernest Bisbing, of Mt. Pocono fire company, who had 10 or 12 men at the scene, used CO₂ powder and foam before the wreckage was extinguished.

Coolbaugh Twp. Fire Chief Charles Kanecht said that the company had five or six men at the scene.

Edward Hay, 17, of Laurel Dr., Tolythanna, a Coolbaugh Township volunteer fireman, was treated by Dr. E. O. Headrick of Mt. Pocono for temporary blinding by flames from burning magnesium metal in the plane.

The airport's registration log book showed the plane was on a flight to the Wyoming Valley Airport at Forty-Fort. The craft is owned by Roos and Panzarello.

Investigators from the Federal Aviation Agency and Nicholas J. Pauley, aviation investigators from the Wyoming State Police, were called to the scene.

Court Supports Blatt In Senate Vote Fight

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Miss Genevieve Blatt, first woman ever elected to statewide office in Pennsylvania, apparently sewed up the Democratic nomination for U.S. senator Monday—more than three months after the Pennsylvania primary. The state Supreme Court, in a 3-2 decision, ruled against counting about 6,000 so-called wrong-line ballots that would have given the decision to her opponent, Michael A. Musmanno.

Will Appeal
Musmanno had no immediate comment, but his attorney, Abraham E. Freedman, said he "most certainly does plan to appeal," although he had yet to talk with Musmanno.

Miss Blatt, who is in her 50s, had a 513-vote lead out of nearly one million votes cast, prior to Monday's decision. In the wrong-line balloting, which was tabulated by lower court order but not recorded officially, Musmanno had an edge of about 1,200 votes.

In Harrisburg, Miss Blatt said she was "very gratified" by the decision and "as soon as the secretary of the commonwealth certifies my nomination, I'll be prepared to begin an active, vigorous—and, I hope—successful campaign."

Scott Opponent
Incumbent Hugh Scott is the Republican nominee, seeking a second term.

Musmanno, 67, in the middle of a 21-year-term on the state Supreme Court, ran with the endorsement of just about every state Democratic leader except U.S. Sen. Joseph S. Clark, who stumped for Miss Blatt.

It was a bitter campaign, and sometimes it was difficult to realize that the race was not between Clark and Musmanno, but between the justice and Miss Blatt.

Fish Commission Fires Director

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Pennsylvania Fish Commission, without comment, Monday fired Albert M. Day from his $15,000-a-year job as executive director.

Day is former director of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, serving from 1946 to 1953.

The commission issued this statement following a closed-door reorganization meeting:

"The Pennsylvania Fish Commission today declared the position of executive director vacant. Mr. Robert Bielo (Day's top assistant) will become acting executive director until further notice of the commission."

Raymond M. Williams of East Bangor, elected president of the commission at the reorganization meeting, declined to say by what vote Day was ousted.

"This action was thoroughly discussed," Williams said. "De-

13 Men Tap In French Mine Cave-In

CHAMPAGNOLE, France (AP)—The collapse of an underground gallery deep in a limestone mine entombed 13 men Monday, a mine official said.

Paint taps were picked up by a microphone, giving new hope that the sealed-in workers were still alive.

First official reports said 16 men were entombed, but the mine official said a check showed 13 were below when the rock fall came.

The collapse of a 1,600-foot section cut off the workers in about 30 miles of a dead-end tunnel.

Musmanno took a leave of absence from the high court for the campaign and, naturally, did not participate in Monday's decision. Judge Herbert B. Cohen also did not take part in the decision.

3-2 Split
Voting to throw out the wrong-line ballots were Chief Justice John C. Bell Jr. and Justices Michael J. Eagen and Samuel P. Roberts. Dissenting were Justices Benjamin R. Jones and Henry N. O'Brien.

The Supreme Court ruling was in one paragraph. It read: "The order of the lower court—which affirmed the unanimous decision of the board of elections which held that the votes in the so-called blank row were invalid and void—is affirmed. Opinions to be filed later."

The lower court ruling was by Judge Vincent A. Carroll, in Philadelphia Commons Pleas Court. He upheld an earlier decision by the county board of elections, based on a decision in an 1897 case growing out of Philip Kalodner, representing Miss Blatt, contended the vote must be in the right block in order to be counted. He also said it was possible for Republicans—as well as Democrats—to vote on the wrong line in the democratic primary, adding:

"We cannot let Republicans or non-partisans decide who will be the Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate."

Pure Speculation
Supporting Kalodner's arguments was Levy Anderson, first deputy city solicitor and counsel for the county board of elections. "It is pure speculation as to who the votes were intended for," Anderson said.

Anderson, in his appearance, also defended the board against charges by Musmanno's attorneys that the board was at fault for locking the row beneath the candidate names, making it impossible to cast incorrect ballots.

The vote has been certified in 66 of the state's 67 counties. It shows Miss Blatt with 392,781 votes to 332,622 for the justice.

The county yet to be certified is Philadelphia, where Musmanno had 127,953 to 68,307 for Miss Blatt in an official count that has been held up by two court challenges: (1) the one ruled on today and (2) on some 280 absentee ballots.

"I don't know why it happened. It came as quite a surprise and a shock to me."

Wallace C. Dean, Meadville, who left the president's post upon Williams' election, had no comment to make other than to say under promise that he voted against firing Day.

Philadelphia GOP Backs Goldwater

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — William J. Devlin, City Republican Party chairman, said Monday the Philadelphia GOP organization will back Presidential nominee Sen. Barry Goldwater and all other party candidates in November.

Devlin said that "not once in its history has the Republican party in Philadelphia walked away from a party's nominee for national office."

"As Republicans we will do our utmost to see that Sen. Goldwater and every other Republican candidate is elected," he added.

Devlin noted that Philadelphia delegates to the recent national convention in San Francisco supported Gov. William Scranton's motion to make Goldwater's nomination unanimous after the one-sided first ballot contest.

WW I Veterans At 4-Day Meet

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP) — More than 300 members of the Veterans of World War I and its auxiliary assembled here Monday for the formal opening of a four-day state convention.

During the opening program, the delegates heard Mayor Frank Slatery welcome them and say that "we here in Wilkes-Barre and all of Pennsylvania as well as all 50 states are not ungrateful of our debt to you 'buddies' . . . for what you did to preserve this and other freedoms."

Tuesday's sessions will be highlighted by the presentation of barracks membership awards and nomination of department officers.

Wednesday, election of officers is scheduled for the department and the auxiliary.

The convention will adjourn Wednesday at noon.

Rocky Visits Rochester As Negro Riots Subside

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — The weekend Negro rioting and pillaging that terrorized Rochester was stilled Monday, as Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller flew to the scene to discuss with local officials ways of preventing any new flareup of violence.

Rockefeller, making what an aide described as a sudden decision, left his New York City office abruptly in the afternoon and flew here in his private plane, accompanied by three top staff aides.

Although the trouble areas were quiet, the city remained an armed camp. Police patrolled the streets in force, and New York State National Guard troops stood by at local armories, in case they were needed.

4 Dead
The uprising by more than 4,000 Negroes and some whites left four dead, approximately 350 persons injured, more than 800 arrested and property damage and loss estimated in the millions.

It also resulted in:
—Reinforcement of the city's 550-man police force with 400 state troopers and 100 or more deputy sheriffs and out-of-town police.

—Mobilization of 1,500 Guardsmen, held on a standby basis at two city armories.

—Declaration of a state of emergency and a dusk-to-dawn curfew which was modified Monday to lessen the hardship it imposed on residents, industries and business.

—Closing of all liquor and gun stores and bars.

The City Council, meeting in special session Monday afternoon, directed City Manager Porter W. Homer to "conduct a thorough inquiry into the origin of the disorder."

Homer announced he had modified the 8 p.m. to 7 a.m. curfew. The new hours, effective Monday night, are 8:30 p.m. to 6 a.m.

Grand Jury Meets
Members of a Monroe County grand jury, summoned by telegram, convened to investigate the riot.

Three judges worked to dispose of the cases of those arrested for rioting, curfew violation, intoxication and on other charges.

Disorderly conduct charges, stemming from curfew violation, generally brought 30-day suspended sentences.

The judges did not accept guilty pleas from those charged with rioting, a felony. The cases were referred to a grand jury. Most could not post the $10,000 bail required and were returned to jail.

While the prisoners paraded before the bench, hundreds of relatives milled outside and in the corridors of the public safety building. State and local police, wearing plastic helmets and carrying nightsticks, would not allow them in the court-

Law and Order
The Guardsmen were ordered into the city by Rockefeller who declared: "Law and order will be maintained in the City of Rochester."

Three of the dead were victims of a fiery helicopter crash Sunday. The craft was surveying a crowd of Negroes in the city's West Side, where violence erupted several times, when it crashed into a house, setting it afire.

The fourth victim, a white man, was beaten by a youth, dropped to the street unconscious, and was struck by a car. Gunfire also echoed across the city. Two men were shot, one critically wounded.

Throughout the rioting, Negroes bombarded police with bricks, rocks, bottles, cans, and gasoline bombs.

Warning Shots
Police used tear gas and fired warning shots in retaliation. Occasionally they clubbed a fighting rioter. Firemen doused many of the rioters with water from high-pressure hoses.

The Rochester branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People said in a statement that there were "deeply underlying causes at the root of the disorders."

It cited what it called a lack of Negroes at policy-making levels in the city, a lack of communication with Negroes and understanding of their problems

Miss Blatt Starts Planning Campaign

HARRISBURG (AP) — Genevieve Blatt, her political spirit buoyed by a favorable decision from the State Supreme Court, said Monday she was ready to lay plans for her senatorial campaign in November.

She believed the high court's opinion released Monday "just about" assured her victory over Justice Michael A. Musmanno as the Democratic nominee to oppose Republican incumbent Hugh Scott in the general election.

"Most people in the party are ready to concede I won the nomination," she said. "We've been talking plans, but we haven't actually laid any. I'm anxious to get on with it."

Court Decision
The high court Monday morning sustained a decision of the Philadelphia Common Pleas Court that machine ballots cast in a blank space under Musmanno's name could not be counted as votes for the justice.

Musmanno, the organization-endorsed candidate, took the question to court after the County Board of Elections originally ruled that the wrong-line ballots were invalid.

Philadelphia is the only county not to have its votes certified by the State Elections Board.

Unofficial returns give Miss Blatt a lead of about 500 votes out of almost one million cast in the April primary.

Albert E. Berman, director of the Elections Bureau and a deputy secretary of the Commonwealth, said he hoped the matter could be cleared up "in a few days," but could not reach Philadelphia officials for more firm information immediately.

Miss Blatt, the three-time secretary of internal affairs and the first woman elected to statewide office in Pennsylvania, stopped short of requesting a concession from Musmanno.

Not Conceding
"I'd be very happy to see him concede if he conscientiously believed it was the thing to do, but I wouldn't press him for it," she said.

Miss Blatt said that she was aware of reports that Musmanno's attorneys were considering an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court, but she was not bothered by this possibility.

"I personally don't see any grounds that this is appealable to the Supreme Court of the United States," she commented. "Certainly if he wants to take it there, we'll answer it and I'm sure we'll win just as we did here."

Authoritative sources in Harrisburg said that in appeals such as this, the federal court usually has ruled that the argument was something to be determined by the state election laws and not within its jurisdiction.

State Studying Vote Frauds

HARRISBURG (AP) — Deputy Atty. Gen. Edward Friedman says the state Justice Department is investigating charges of vote fraud in Lackawanna County in the April 28 primary.

The department last week sent letters to a large number of persons in Scranton with enclosed postcards asking them to return the cards to indicate whether they were the persons registered at that address. Friedman said more letters probably will be sent out.

Robert West, chief investigator, said the probe was the result of a charge in commonwealth court by Genevieve Blatt, state secretary of internal affairs.

County Reimbursed $52,093 For CD Work, Loss Of Taxes

STROUDSBURG — The Monroe County Commissioners were happily surprised yesterday by two reimbursement checks totaling $52,093.10.

One was a partial reimbursement on the first phase of the Civil Defense construction in the courthouse basement. It was from the state, and totaled $36,973.12.

The second check was from the federal government, a $15,119.98 reimbursement for taxes lost on government property in the county.

This second check stemmed from government action in 1959, when it took over control of the old Wherry Housing Project in Tobyhanna, thus removing it from the tax rolls.

According to county treasurer Warren Loney, an Act of Congress made the government liable for reimbursement for some portion of these lost taxes.

The county asked the government for $16,978.75, and the government sent the $15,119.98 back. The $1,858.77 difference is an adjustment for the years 1959, 1960, and 1961, after a government assessment appeal was approved.

Now Tobyhanna Village. In other business, District Attorney James Marsh spoke briefly to the board concerning local state police action in closing down the gambling concessions at volunteer firemen's carnivals.

The D.A. was asked if the police had consulted him on the action, as to whether he would push the prosecution of any cases that might come up. Marsh said that he had not been consulted. He added that it seemed ironic that at a time when the county was trying to help firemen (referring to the Marshalls Creek disaster of June 26, when three firemen were killed), the police are taking this action.

Marsh said that the whole thing has "the foul odor of politics."

He added that should any cases come to him, he would prosecute them under his duties as District Attorney, "so that justice might be served."

A liquid fuels application of $2,842 for Paradise Twp. was approved.

A telegram was received from the Salisbury, Md., Chamber of Commerce, asking the commissioners to send a representative to a forthcoming meeting to object to the Supreme Court's decision of Senatorial reapportionment within the states.

Atty. Russell Mervine, solicitor for the board, said that "I don't think we have any part in this. We can acknowledge the letter, but we won't send a representative."

The Supreme Court ruled that the Senate of the various states must be apportioned on the basis of population.

Seek Playground Help Mayor Joseph Small of Stroudsburg and Herbert Altemose, chairman of the county park commission, spoke to the board about staffing the Third St. Playground in Stroudsburg.

Small said that the borough council said they would like to help, but felt they could not help. "They could maybe lend you someone from the borough playground and let you hire him for the balance of the summer."

Small told the board. He added that Sam Everett said he was willing to help at the county playground. "I think $55 a week is right," Small said.

The commissioners told Altemose they would hold the park commission responsible for securing supervision of the playground.

Anonymous Call Forced Warning Against Carnival

STROUDSBURG — State police from the Stroudsburg substation visited the Tannersville Volunteer Fire Company's annual carnival, Thursday and warned the operators about gambling in answer to an anonymous complaint, Sgt. Michael Boiwka, substation commander, said yesterday.

The unknown caller said "that he lost some money there." Boiwka reported. Carnival officials said that a man who had been gambling was ejected from the carnival after he became disorderly. It is surmised that he made the complaint.

Three Booths Closed

Boiwka said, "I didn't see them (gambling). I went in the afternoon and talked to Nelson Smith." Smith is chairman of the Tannersville Carnival. He reported that three booths were closed after Boiwka's visit.

The substation commander said that he must make arrests for "open and gambling."

He explained, "No matter who it's for, it's illegal."

Some firemen have suggested amending the state's gambling laws to exempt charitable organizations. Local volunteer firemen say that they, and many other non-profit organizations, will lose their receipts if the gambling laws are strictly enforced.

Organizations who are gambling for fund raising maintain that their games are not run for individual profit, and point out that proceeds are returned to the community as services.

Has No Objection Boiwka has no objection to an amended gambling law exempting charitable organizations. "That would be wonderful. Let them pass a law," he said.

Three area firemen's carnivals are upcoming. Stroud Twp. will begin Aug. 3 for one week, while Marshalls Creek will be in operation for three consecutive Saturdays beginning Aug. 8.

75th Year Of Gap Proclaimed

DELAWARE WATER GAP — Mayor Arthur R. Lehr of the borough of Delaware Water Gap yesterday proclaimed the celebration of the 75th anniversary of the borough this Friday and Saturday.

Activities will include the crowning of a queen, an honor guard from the Tobyhanna Signal Corps, a thirty unit parade, a fifty piece band and majorettes, cake walks, awards to senior citizens, competitions for the young, and a historical display, according to the mayor.

"Everyone is welcome," he concluded.

Sabatino Hearing Aug. 1

EAST BANGOR — A tentative date of August 1 was set yesterday for the hearing of Carmine Sabatino, 38, of 1207 Pennsylvania Ave., Bangor. He is a former office manager and salesmen of the Capitol State Co. Inc., in East Bangor and has been charged with embezzling.

He was arrested Friday by Northampton County authorities on charges of embezzling $34,685.06 in company funds. Sabatino was arraigned before Alderman John Gombosi of Bethlehem at noon Friday. He was freed after posting $5,000 bail.

Sabatino was taken into custody at his home Friday morning at 9:30 by Chief County Detective Albio DiGiuliano and assistant detective Edward Pluck. He is accused of stealing funds from the company as a result of differences in cash sales and for altering sales during the period of Jan. 1962 to Jan. 1964.

Sabatino who was employed by the East Bangor State firm for the past seven years was discharged from his job after company officials became aware of the shortages.

Sigal Berg and Co., a certified account firm of Easton, discovered the shortage when they made an audit of company records during February and March of this year.

Capitol State Co. refused to divulge any information on whether another audit will be made prior to 1962. The charges were submitted to the Northampton County's District Attorney's office by officer of the State company.

The officers of the company include Anthony Capozzolo, Joseph Capozzolo, Michael Nittle, Vincent Caiazzo, Vito Fioriglio and Nicholas Martino.

Koda To Be Tried In County Court

HAZLETON — State Police Trooper Stanley Komoshinski, of Hazleton, who will arrest Albert Koda of Port Carbon some time this week, said yesterday he believes the driver of the ill-fated explosives truck which killed six near Marshalls Creek will be tried for negligence in Monroe County court.

"The time when I'm to arrest him is not definite yet," Komoshinski told The Daily Record last night, "but it will be the early part of this week."

He added that "as far as I know, I'm going to bring him to Stroudsburg for trial in Monroe County court."

A coroner's jury found Koda guilty of negligence Saturday. Koda was the driver of the American Cyanamid truck which blew up June 26, causing six deaths, many injuries, and nearly a million dollars in damage.

Corroborated By Tide Komoshinski's view was corroborated by defense attorney Francis Ede of Pen Argyl.

Ede said last night that Koda will be arrested for violation of a state law, therefore will be tried in a state court (such as Monroe's) rather than a federal court.

"I don't think there was any violation of federal law, so I don't think federal prosecution will enter into it," Koda's counsel said.

Area's Top Barry Aide Not Enthused Over Foes

McILHANNY — William M. McDade, or Atty. Maurice Buckingham, director of the Epstein, Bradford County's delegate to the GOP convention.

Both men are somewhat lukewarm about Senator Goldwater as Republican candidate for President.

McDade has expressed disappointment over Goldwater's overwhelming victory at the convention, and has said that his views and those of Goldwater frequently do not coincide. McDade is seeking his second term in the House.

Epstein's view of Goldwater has been described as "somewhat less than lukewarm."

Buckingham said that "the entire Republican Party is gravitating toward Senator Goldwater, not only in Lackawanna County but throughout the State of Pennsylvania."

He apparently feels that Gov. Scranton will placate Goldwater supporters for the harsh words Scranton used against the senator during the nomination campaign.

We should all be prepared when the time comes to make your selection of a suitable Memorial now.

PM Teacher Rejects Hike; Jersey Bound

SWIFTWATER — A. J. Caprioli, Pocono Mountain Joint High School teacher who was offered an extra $350 a year to remain, has turned the offer down.

Caprioli wrote a letter of resignation which was taken up by the jointure's policy and personnel committee last week. He decided to leave in order to accept a New Jersey position at $7,000 a year.

The English teacher would have made $5,500 here next year, plus $350 for coaching the debating team. The committee decided to up this amount by giving Caprioli an extra $350 for directing two class plays and organizing the school's junior prom.

C. Willis Dunlap, jointure supervising principal, told the committee he would like to keep the teacher at Pocono Mountain. Dr. Edmund Magann, president of the joint school committee, termed Caprioli an "excellent teacher."

"He couldn't be any better. We hate to see him go," Magann said last night.

State Promises Letter On Fish Ladder Legality

HAMILTON SQUARE — The Monroe County Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs heard a letter from the state fish commission promising an answer from the state attorney general's office on the legal responsibility of the Coates Paper Co. for the fish ladder at its dam. The letter was read at the

Viet Nam Gets Worse

The battle for the freedom of South Viet Nam from Communism is taking another turn for the worse.

Viet Cong Communists have increased the frequency, size and power of their attacks on South Vietnamese civilian towns and military posts.

Increasing numbers of North Vietnamese regular soldiers are participating in ambushes, raids and full scale military attacks. Hit and run operations by 10 to 40 guerrillas are giving way to military assaults by 200 to 300 Viet Cong soldiers.

A new buildup of Viet Cong forces is reported under way with American and Vietnamese officials expecting a major attack soon.

United States forces in Viet Nam, already 16,200 strong, will be further bolstered. Our involvement is becoming bigger and deeper and more serious. The "guerrilla war" is fast becoming a full scale war with North Viet Nam, and perhaps Red China.

We have planted our flag in South Viet Nam. We have sent troops and sacrificed 256 American lives and spent $1 million a day to keep the South Vietnamese free.

It is now too late to back out, as French President Charles DeGaulle suggested last week.

The South Vietnamese have admitted that they are sending commandos into North Viet Nam on sabotage missions based on a policy of "an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth." Such attacks to the north are fully justified.

But the main battle is in the South, where Vietnamese are still free from Communist rule. We must beat the Viet Cong in the South first.

At the same time, we must give the technical and administrative aid needed to show the South Vietnamese that living in freedom is better than living under Communism.

Farm Subsidies Rise Again

The paradox of increasing American farm productivity outrunning all attempts by the federal government to control farm acreage and crop production is costing taxpayers more and more and more.

The federal government reported over the weekend that a record $7 billion was spent on all farm programs in fiscal 1961 which ended June 30.

That beats even the steeply rising costs of the farm program in 1961 ($5.2 billion), 1962 ($5.9 billion), and 1963 ($6.9 billion).

Despite changes proposed every year and adopted by the Congress, despite the promises of a farm problem solution in every Presidential campaign, despite reductions in farm acreage, the farmers of America are producing more per acre and the government is paying more and more to keep farm products at artificially high market prices.

It is time for a complete overhaul of all federal farm subsidies. It is time for the American system of free enterprise and free market economy to be allowed to work on the farm.

Hams For Goldwater

By George Dixon

WASHINGTON — Ham radio operator Barry Goldwater is conducting as much of a political poll with fellow hams as the cantankerous old Federal Communications Commission will tolerate.

But this kind of poll could tend to mislead a candidate. Ham radio operators scarcely constitute a typical cross-section of the American voting populace.

If the Republican presidential nominee gets the scrambled word that he's "on the beam" from one ham in each of the 50 states he shouldn't assume that this means he will carry all 50 states.

Using a radio ham as a weighted straw in a straw poll could render that poll about as unreliable as one could get. In this vast land there must be communities in which the radio ham is the only living soul for Goldwater.

I know quite a few people here and there, and the only one I know who's a radio ham is the senator from Arizona. I know other kinds of hams, of course, but I wouldn't consider them a reliable cross-section either.

The hams for Goldwater will have to be increasingly cute in covering up their politicking because the Federal Communications Commission is daily keeping a closer ear on them. The FCC won't stand for ham radio politicking.

Nevertheless the GOP standard bearer has a big thing going for him with practitioners of this weird and wonderful hobby.

He can employ circuitous phrases to exhort them to spread his gossip. And they can give him a "will do" in hamster code that the decoders of the FCC will have a fierce time deciphering.

Goldwater can give a scrambled exhortation to a clam digger on Long Island to dig his tongs and go out to spread the word. He can do the same with a shrimp in the Gulf of Mexico, and a tuna snatcher on the Pacific.

If Goldwater wants to enlist more than gamers of seafood, which is within the bounds of possibility, he can exchange "on the beam" scramblings with a gas and oil tycoon in Texas, a farmer in Pennsylvania, and a hobby-lobbyist in the District of Columbia.

I think the sultan will keep in mind that we now can vote for president and vice president too.

Senator Goldwater, whose ham call letters are K7UGA, has more than a fellow-hobbyist appeal to ham radio operators. He has made the word "ham" socially acceptable.

It's no longer an insult to call a man a ham — unless you call him a polish ham.

There are rumors, unconfirmed, that demonstrators at the Republican National Convention are going to be packed in ice and shipped from San Francisco to the Democratic National Convention in Atlantic City.

The talk is that the Democrats want trained demonstrators, and feel they haven't time to break in their own before their convention opens Aug. 24.

Imported demonstrators must be packed in ice for two reasons: (1) to keep them fresh, because demonstrators are traditionally fresh; (2) demonstrators must not grow. As a matter of fact they never do. I'm positive I've seen the same "teenage" demonstrators at every political convention since the nomination of Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1932.

The same ancient but splendidly preserved teenagers paraded for every aspirant in San Francisco, from Scranton to Goldwater.

Toward the end, permanent Chairman Thurston Morton began to get wise. Senator Morton told the demonstrators, in a voice reeking with sympathy, that they must be tired out because he'd recognize the same faces in every demonstration.

If they are shipped to Atlantic City they will be thawed out and restored to animation for four days. Then they will be repacked in ice and kept in suspended animation until 1968.

Overhead at the National Press Club Bar: "If Barry Goldwater is elected president do you think he will federalize the Girl Scouts?"

The Pennsylvania Story

Aged In Mental Hospitals

By Mason Denison

HARRISBURG — Early in his administration Governor William W. Scranton expressed concern about the many non-psychotic aged patients in State mental hospitals.

He talked this over with Secretary of Public Welfare Arlin M. Adams and it was decided that a new approach to this old problem was the only hope for a real breakthrough.

In effect, the Governor and Adams said: Let's take a hard look at this situation and see what we can come up with.

Briefly, the problem was that over the years disoriented elderly persons were admitted to mental hospitals. In time they no longer required intensive psychiatric treatment, but there was no place to send them.

They continued, meantime, to occupy facilities and use services which might have been put to use for more seriously ill mental patients.

Adams appointed a committee of experts and after putting their heads together they came up with the idea of geriatric centers at State mental hospitals and State-owned general hospitals for mental patients who need medical care and certain nursing services but not intensive psychiatric treatment. Commissioner of Mental Health Dr. William P. Camp participated in the project.

In effect, the proposal was to gradually transfer these elderly patients from the mental health program to a new type of care. Their environment would be changed from that of a mental hospital ward to the atmosphere of a nursing home.

But, perhaps most important, they would no longer require the intensive services of psychiatrists, nor would they occupy space designed for mental patients.

Instead, they would receive specialized medical services appropriate for the aged, and the nursing care they need in surroundings befitting their non-psychotic condition.

The responsibility for their care would be shifted from the Office of Mental Health to the Office for the Aging within the Department of Public Welfare, and the cost would then be met with Medical Assistance for the Aged public assistance funds divided equally between the state and the Federal Government.

Secretary Adams liked this plan. And so did Governor Scranton. In fact, the Governor thought so much of it that he included it in his 1961 Special Session call, because some changes in law were needed.

The Special Session adopted the necessary legislation and it was signed by the Governor. Revisions to the public assistance and the State general hospital laws and changes in the Administrative Code were involved.

The three bills to bring about the required law changes were co-sponsored by Representatives Adam T. Bower, Northumberland; Alvin C. Bush, Lycoming; Donald W. Fox, Lawrence; Harry S. Kessler, Montour; Ralph S. Merry, Crawford; Orville E. Snare, Huntingdon; James E. Willard Mercer; W. William Wilt, Blair, and Harry D. Ridinger, Adams.

In a joint state these legislators said:

"This is landmark legislation which will assure specialized medical care and other services for our aged persons who are over 65 and no longer require the specialized services of our mental hospitals, yet have no where else to go. It is a terrible thing that persons no longer in need of psychiatric care are kept in mental institutions."

Harlem Poverty

Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON — The explosive situation in Harlem is slated to be one of the key issues in next week's House debate on President Johnson's billion dollar anti-poverty program.

Opponents are planning a series of blistering speeches spotlighting how the sweeping powers President Johnson is seeking for his "poverty czar" may be used to undermine the New York City administration by pouring vast sums of money into private Harlem civil rights groups.

Headed by Representative Peter Frelinghuysen, R-N. J., these legislators will warn that Sargent Shriver, acting director of the poverty program, plans this unprecedented use of federal funds to combat poverty in the nation's largest city if Congress votes him the authority.

Under the President's proposal, the director of the Office of Economic Opportunity (Shriver) is empowered to personally select private

Dear Abby

Either You Do, Or You Don't

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: How do you tell a pleasant, good-hearted woman that she should wash her neck? This woman is popular and well liked. She is a faithful worker for "good causes" around town and her husband is quite a prominent businessman. Every time I see her, her neck is dirty. It's not just dust or dirt that could have accidentally just gotten there. It is a real grime collection. Should I write her an anonymous letter? I hate to hear other woman make fun of her behind her back.

UNDECIDED

DEAR UNDECIDED: I would choose a pleasant, good-hearted woman with a dirty neck for a friend over one who would write an anonymous letter. If she is a friend, tell her. If she is merely an acquaintance, skip it. It's HER neck.

DEAR ABBY: The graduation announcement racket has got me hopping mad. It used to be an invitation that was sent to relatives and very close friends, and the idea was to INVITE the person to attend the graduation. Today, when a person graduates from high school or college, they send invitations to everyone they have said hello to over the years if they can find their name in the phone book. And the object is to see how much loot they can haul in. This June we received 16 announcements and we didn't expect one. What does a person do in a case like this? If you don't send a gift, they think you're a cheap skate.

HOPPING MAD

DEAR ABBY: No one reaches the "Promised Land" without going through the wilderness.

Speaking Of Your Health:

Golf Handicap

The indignant grass widow may now be armed with a strong arguing point for keeping her golfer husband off the greens.

A fungicide commonly used on golf courses against turf fungus and as a seed disinfectant was recently found to have caused an allergic skin condition.

The offending substance is thiram, a complex chemical which is also used extensively in a wide variety of products like art gum, adhesives, bathing caps, toys and many other rubbery, elasticized products.

Offensive Spray

It is most offensive in a fungicidal spray because of its high concentration.

But thiram is so widely used in all industry that it must always be a suspect in seeking the cause of allergic skin eczema (dermatitis).

Contact or allergic dermatitis may respond exceedingly well to cortisone medications. These must, of course, be used only under a doctor's direction.

Alcohol Is Taboo

The unfortunate golf enthusiast who was unwittingly responsible for this important scientific discovery was warned that his troubles might not end at the eighteenth hole. Stopping at the club house for a comforting cocktail might make him even more miserable than the dermatitis, for thiram is very similar in chemical composition to antabuse which produces temporary but violent sickness when combined with alcohol.

groups to receive funds under the billion dollar program.

In launching their attack, the Frelinghuysen group is circulating to all House members a memorandum warning that such use of federal funds could "stir up a nightmare of trouble" in New York rather than stamp out poverty.

As an example of their fears, they point out that Shriver already has intervened in this tense situation by forcing a merger of Haryou, Harlem Youth Group, and Act, a militant negro civil rights organization, by promising them federal aid to fight poverty provided they joined forces.

Shriver's proposal bypasses the local city government, according to the legislators, and gives instead nearly $100 million to Haryou-Act, the newly-merged group, which is active in pressuring Mayor Wagner to curb the Police Department's powers.

Haryou-Act also has joined the campaign of other civil rights groups in New York in demanding the suspension of Lieutenant Thomas R. Gilligan, the policeman whose off-duty shooting of 13-year-old James Powell sparked the Harlem riots.

BREEDING TROUBLE—In its memorandum calling on House members to vote curbs on Shriver's unprecedented powers, the Frelinghuysen group stresses the bitter controversy going on among city and private groups for control of the proposed funds to fight poverty in New York.

Highlights of this memorandum include: "The bill opens the way for direct federal involvement in the activities of every private organization in New York without the necessity for participation or approval of the city government."

"We have had for a period of weeks now a struggle going on in New York City between several groups for control of some $110 to $118 million."

"In order to qualify for assistance, two groups, the so-called HARYOU group and ACT, have been ordered by Mr. Shriver, director of the program, to merge, and a power struggle has developed over who should control the new organization."

"In another instance, Paul Screvane, the president of the City Council, is opposing the efforts of a group in Brooklyn to receive poverty funds directly from the federal government. The group was formed by Abe Stark, borough president of Brooklyn."

"Instead of a community action program being developed in New York to fight poverty, this bill is an open invitation for any group to fragment what the city of New York either is doing or should be doing to stamp out unemployment and juvenile delinquency."

"Unless restrictions are written into this legislation, there is great danger that federal funds will be used for political advantage by private groups at the local level."

NEW OTEPKA SHOWDOWN — Otto Oteпка, State Department security official, is going to get his long-delayed hearing on charges that he gave classified information to a Senate committee investigating security risks in government.

The hearing was ordered after Oteпка turned down an offer from Secretary of State Rusk to drop the charges if he would agree to a transfer from the State Department's security office.

Oteпка refused on the ground that he has both a legal and moral right to his old job — as chief security evaluation officer — since he has done nothing wrong.

Italian painters depicted her with a sorrowful face, her eyes swollen from crying.

In England the pronunciation of her name was slurred to "Maudlin," and a fearful person was described as "like Maudlin." The simile resulted in the adjective "maudlin" — excessively sentimental.

Catches Commissioners' Chairman By Surprise

Price Reverses Stand, Now Favors 2 Meetings

STROUDSBURG — Citing a poll of Monroe County voters as his reason, county commissioner John Price yesterday reversed his stand on holding board meetings once a week.

Price had previously voted in favor of reducing the meetings from two to one a week, but yesterday caught Stanley Rader — board chairman, who had first brought the cut-back motion — by complete surprise.

Commissioner Stuart Pipher, who had been against the cut all along, went along with the reinstatement of the twice-weekly meetings.

Two weeks ago, Rader had moved to cut the number of meetings. Price seconded the motion; Pipher voted against it.

Last week, Rader agreed to review the one-a-weekly policy in October, to see if work warranted a return to the heavier schedule. Price again was for the motion; Pipher abstained.

Quoted Study

Yesterday Price quoted a study he said he made over a four-day period, in which he found public sentiment heavily in favor of returning to the old schedule. He then moved to return to that schedule.

Rader was obviously startled by the statement, and at first said that the board would take up the matter at a later date. He then accepted the motion. After Pipher seconded it, Rader said, "Motion carried," in a low voice.

"I object strongly," the chairman added. "After this, really let's make up our minds."

People's Will

Price said, "I spent four days running around, trying to determine the people's will. Last Thursday, on a supposed day off, we were in here and 23 different subjects were brought up."

Price's complete statement was:

"Since the resolution was passed stating that we — the commissioners — would meet regularly only once a week rather than twice, I have discussed this decision at length with many people, and I have been the recipient of many phone calls from the people of the county with opinions about this matter."

"The great interest generated by this resolution prompted me to conduct a poll of a great many voters in the county to see exactly how they felt about this matter."

Asked Two Questions

"The people questioned represented a cross-section of the people making up the county. I asked two questions: first, "Do you think the commissioners should meet once or twice a week?"; and the second question was "Why?"

"In response to the first question, two out of three felt that we should meet at least twice a week. Most of the others indicated either they didn't know or were unconcerned."

"In response to 'Why?' almost everyone said that because of the increased county activity and in order to best serve the people two meetings would be required. On the basis of this poll I feel that the public interest would be best served by having two meetings a week."

"I have maintained that I am in office to serve the people, and since the majority of the people appear to feel that two meetings on a regular weekly basis are required, I feel it is my personal responsibility to try to achieve that outcome."

"I might say that it has been gratifying to see the response to this question — I hope the people continue to make their will known."

"In the light of these latest developments, I would like to propose that the question concerning the number of regular meetings a week be brought up again so that I might enter a motion to return the number of regularly scheduled meetings to two a week," Price said.

Each Student Should Get Individual Attention

STROUDSBURG — To John Haddon, recently appointed psychologist for the Stroud Union School District, education is a personal endeavor and each school student should be given individual attention.

Haddon replaces Miss Eloise Bryan, who for 11 years pioneered the psychology program in the district. He emphasizes that "education takes place within the child rather than with the method of education. Which simply means—the child does the learning."

For the past five years, the new director of Stroud Union

Girl, 19, Hurt In Car Crash

MOUNTAINHOME — A 19-year-old Forrest Hills, N. Y. girl was admitted to the General Hospital of Monroe County yesterday for treatment of injuries she received in a one-car accident in Mountainhome Sunday at 5:10 p. m.

According to Harry Campbell, Barrett Twp. chief of police, a car driven by Patricia A. Boyce, skidded and struck a stone abutment in Mountainhome. She was admitted to the hospital with head injuries and is reported in guarded condition.

Two passengers in the car, her sister, Kathleen, 16, also of Forrest Hills, and Maurice Fuller, 29, of Rye, N. Y., were treated at the scene by Dr. James P. Grouk, of Mountainhome.

The car was extensively damaged, police said.

Another accident

In another accident investigated by Campbell, Millard G. Price, 16, of Cresco, was traveling west on Playhouse Lane in Mountainhome when his car collided with a vehicle backing out of a driveway yesterday at 11:30 a. m.

James E. Walter, 55, of Cresco, was backing his car out of a driveway when it was struck in the rear, police said. Damage to the car was estimated at $150 and to the Price vehicle at $100.

E-L Promotes Barrett

CLEVELAND — Thomas R. Barrett, 47, has been appointed superintendent of property protection for the Erie Lackawanna Railroad, with headquarters in Cleveland, G. W. Maxwell, vice president — operations, announced yesterday.

Barrett was formerly captain of police for the Erie Lackawanna at Hornell, N.Y. He was first employed as a sergeant of police at Weehawken, N.J. on May 1, 1941. He subsequently held a similar position at Dunmore, Pa.

Mr. Barrett was born in Dunmore, Pa., and attended schools at Scranton, Pa., and City College of New York.

intensive pre-school testing program, served as a speech therapist on the Monroe County School superintendent's staff.

Knowing Children
Haddon sees his primary function in the pre-testing program as, "A job of getting to know the children and understanding them in terms of their emotional and learning characteristics."

He pointed out that every child in the district is given a test eight or nine months before entering kindergarten.

"The purpose of the test is to give administrators and teachers a thorough understanding of a child's maturity and his ability to enter school at kindergarten age."

"We want to know if a child is ready to leave the security of his home and mother for a few hours a day and mix with a class of other children and be under the supervision of a teacher."

"We measure the mental age and intelligent quotient of a

PoconoDowns Plans Start Next July

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP)—Pocono Downs, the proposed pari-mutuel harness race track near Wilkes-Barre won't go into operation until next July, Victor C. Diehm, president of the track, said Friday.

Racing had been scheduled to start this summer, but construction of the $6 million track has been suspended since December.

Diehm said construction was halted in December "because of winter weather and we had some differences within ourselves. We have been reorganizing."

"We fully expect to start construction again within a few weeks," the president of Pocono Downs said.

The track is to be built near the Wilkes-Barre interchange of the Northeast Extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

Wagner New Evans-Blitz Commander

CANADENSIS — William L. Wagner of Mountainhome has been elected commander of Evans-Blitz Post 622, American Legion in Canadensis at a recent meeting.

John J. Baker, past commander, congratulated Wagner on his accession to the highest office of the post and reviewed the legion's progress during the past year.

Wagner also had many of the trophies and medals on display that were gained by the post last year. The awards were won for records set in district 30. He also displayed the plaque that was presented to him by the National Commander.

Also Elected
In other action, the legion announced that the following were elected to posts in the Barrett Legion:

Jules Muraro of Cresco, 1st vice commander; George Curran of Mt. Pocono, 2nd vice commander; Ben Varvel of Canadensis, Financial officer; Henry W. Weidaw of Skipton, adjutant; George B. Lee and Arthur Reisenwitz Jr., both of Cresco, sergeants at arms.

The Rev. Harold N. McMurray, former pastor of the Mountainhome Methodist Church, now chaplain at the Methodist Home at Cornwall, Pa., is the Honorary Chaplain of the post, according to Henry W. Weidaw, adjutant.

Six 4-H Youths Win Meet Prizes

STROUDSBURG — Six Monroe County youths recently participated in the fifth annual 4-H district demonstration day at Shickshinny, Pennsylvania.

The northeast 4-H district consists of 17 counties of the northeastern corner of the State.

The purpose of demonstration day is to help youngsters learn public speaking and install self confidence in the individual.

This was the first year Monroe County participated at Demonstration Day. 86 demonstrations were given and the following awards were won by Monroe Countians:

Hal Serfass and Robert Jensen of Cherry Valley, Red award for horseshoeing; Barbara Johnson of Tamersville, red award for health demonstration; Paula Reisenwitz of Mountainhome, red award for clothing construction; Sharon Oyer and Barbara Withrow of Stroudsburg, white award for baking.

child and project those results in an effort to find out if the child will be able to emotionally and academically enter school," Haddon said.

The psychologist, who earned his masters degree at Bucknell University, reminded that it is extremely important to spot any potential emotional or psychological problem in a child at this point.

Finds Ability
He said the results of such testing could go either way. They could find a child who should not enter school at the prescribed age or one could be uncovered who has exceptional ability and requires special schooling.

He said the problem of providing an education for the gifted students faces Stroud Union today.

"This is one of the things I would like to work on. I am sure if there is a solution within our limits we will come up with it," he predicted.

Non-Graded Classes
Haddon agreed that the non-graded method of teaching is one solution to special attention that is required to allow an exceptional student to learn according to his ability.

He noted that Stroud Union is considering this method for its new junior high school that is scheduled to be in operation by September, 1965.

Haddon said, however, that to employ the non-graded method in the elementary system would require transporting students from one school within the district to another.

YOU SHOULD KNOW THIS ABOUT MEDICINES

There have been frequent reports about serious consequences resulting from overdoses of medicines given to infants and children. A five grain tablet of aspirin can be a poisonous dose to an infant. Almost any household remedy can be dangerous if improperly taken.

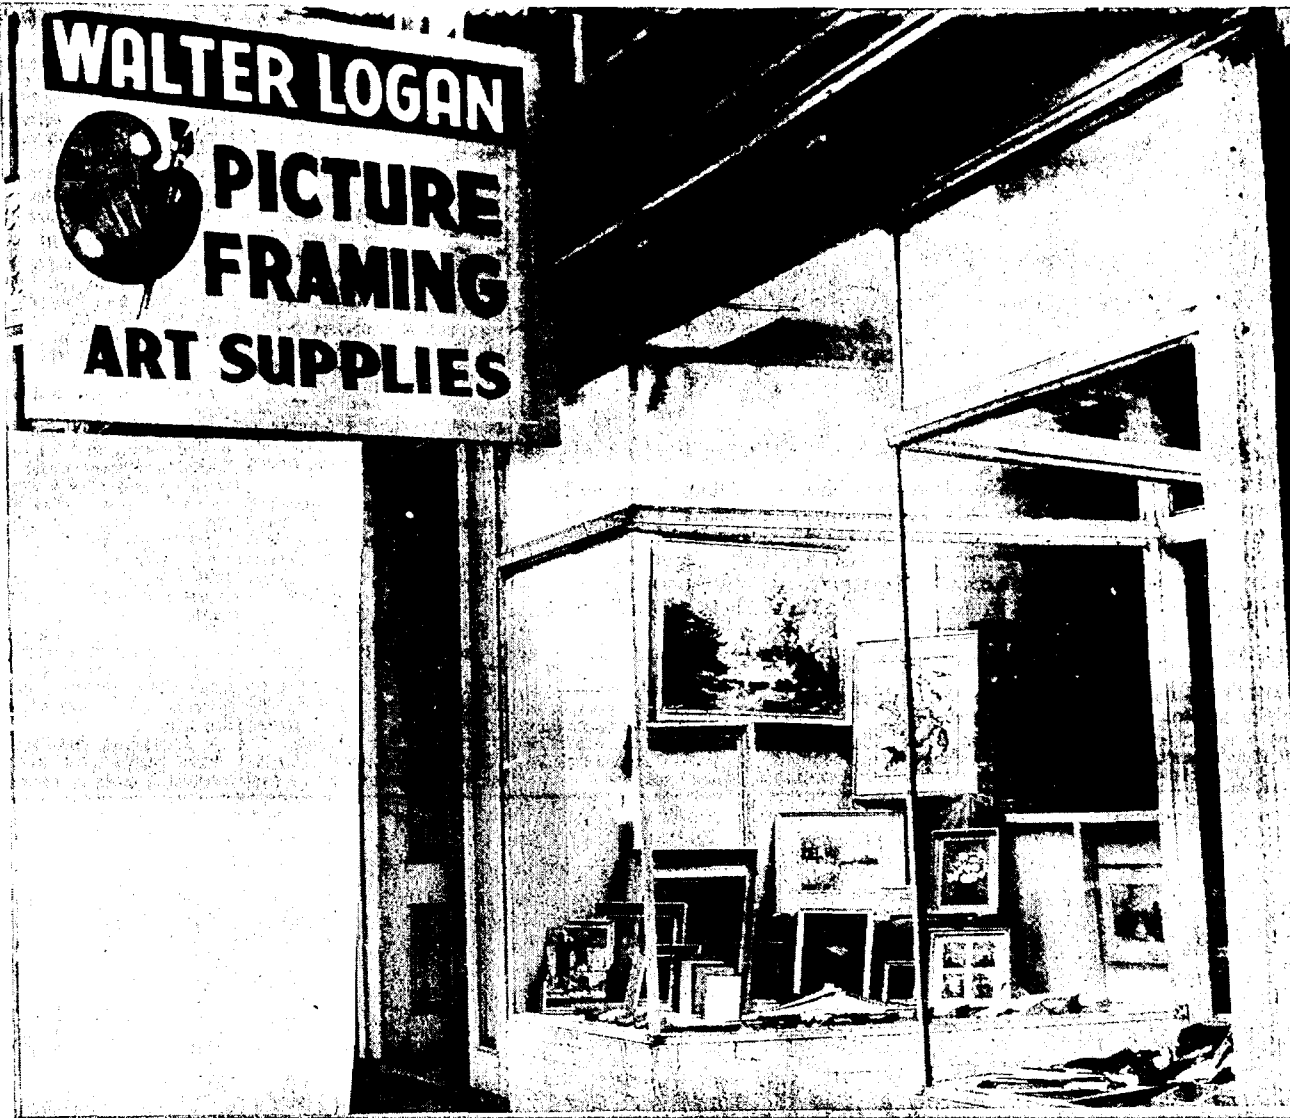

Subject to variation, it is important to know that an average dose for a one month infant is 1/20th of an adult. For a one year child it is 1/7th and a five year old about 1/3rd. Now you can see why it is important to read directions carefully and follow your physician's instructions exactly.

"Known to Sell the BEST... and Service The Rest!"

Just Between Us —

We're a mighty crew when all the husbands and wives of ONR get together as we did on Saturday at the clam bake, and we consume a prodigious amount of clams not to mention chicken, roast beef, hamburgers and corn.

Quite apart from the food, I look forward to the annual shindig primarily because it puts my co-workers in perspective. At work you see only one side of a man, like a cardboard cut-out. It's only when you see him with his family at ease that he takes on that third dimension that makes a whole personality.

And we've got some mighty well-rounded personalities. I may add, with some interesting hobbies. On the more community service side, was Hank Stettler whooping it up for his Babe Ruth League. "Boys don't just vanish when they get out of Little League the way people think," he was insisting, "and from 13 to 15 is when they need baseball."

Well Ruth Ottaway may have picked up a new hobby, which she may or may not need—bean bag tossing. Then there was John Tappan, Debbie's father, whose hobby is sport shirts, they were telling me. Indidentally Debbie, who at 18 is the youngest employee (for the summer) didn't get there in time to hear the whistles when her silver half dollar was announced.

Rounding out the Record family feeling this year was Horace Heller's bride, Helen, and a welcome addition she was, too. But speaking or gaining a third dimension, the presence of artists definitely add dimension to an art show.

There were plenty of artists, along with art patrons, down at Shawnee Inn on Sunday afternoon for the opening of the "Profiles in Art" showing arranged by Vi Rich and Ginny Barrett with some 197 paintings on display. Well, it started out with 197 although all of Dorothy Strausser's water colors seem to have been sold even before the show opened.

Sterling was there with a lot of new ones, including a floral which he himself likes best of all those he's painted with his "new eyes." And so was Beatrice Crowther, with an admiring husband in tow. It was a handsome gathering, and the fact that everybody looked as if they were floating had nothing

Garden Tour Of Britain For WSCS

NEWFOUNDLAND — Mrs. Anne Wertner Wood of Swarthmore and South Sterling will show her slides and talk on "Garden Tour of the British Isles" during a program presented by the South Sterling Woman's Society of Christian Service on Aug. 19 at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Wood has written, among others, "Make Your Own Christmas," and "The Flower Show Guide."

She is a member of the Providence Garden Club; the Garden Club of America; The National Council of State Garden Clubs; and the International Society for Horticultural Science.

The program will be held in the South Sterling Methodist Church, and is open to all.

to do with the fruit punch, which was just that.

The effect is caused by the new carpet in the lobby. It's white with colored circles about two feet in diameter, circles echoed in the lighting fixtures so that there is a feeling of walking or floating in a sea of balloons. Paul Grant has observed that people, when they first walk in, unconsciously try to avoid walking on the white part by walking on the circles which does lend an unusual gait. What a beautiful spot for hopscotch.

Oh well, we're getting more cultured all the time. The Profiles in Art at Shawnee will continue until the 11th closes with profits from sales going to the General Hospital. On the other hand the art show at the Mountainhome Methodist Church is just a one day affair—Wednesday, to be exact.

Ten Tricks Ticked Off For A Turnabout Interview

By Roberta Roesh

We've interviewed hundreds of women and asked them hundreds of questions. So we've challenged the other night when several women turned the tables on us and asked us to answer this question:

"Out of all the traits that you've observed in interviewing successful women, what are the ten that you'd pick out as traits a woman needs to feel and be alive?"

Narrowed To These

We've thought about this a long time because the choice is wide and our opinion is one thing while yours might be something else. But if we had to pick only ten based on our talks with women we'd narrow them down to these:

1. Whatever you are, be the best in your field. Achieve in it and work to accomplish things.
2. Beginning today, refuse to sit around wishing you had a big talent. Instead tie together all the loose ends of what you have to offer — and if you think you have nothing, remember that everyone has something. Then get to work immediately making something larger from a total of little things.
3. Ideal Combination
4. Work toward the combination of a mind that's intelligent and a heart that's understanding and gentle in its judgement.
5. Be warm and responsive to people everywhere. Be aware of them and their needs every day and show care and concern.
6. Similarly, give the people who surround you—your family, friends and daily associates — the sense of being more important. Through your encouragement, lead them farther than they thought they could go.
7. Through your own reaction to life, show people how to love, suffer, be happy and laugh. The world needs lots of women who can point the way.

THE WYCKOFF SHOPPER

I'll say this — there aren't too many dull moments around Marlene Andrews, our store's advertising director. In the midst of a serious discussion, you can depend upon her to come out with the craziest of "far out" quips. When the elephant jokes were going around, she knew all the silliest, and injected them into every conversation at the most unexpected moments. And then there was Friday! My "Shopper" proof had arrived in the advertising office along with her proofs. But did she put it on my desk 12:22? Not our gal! She fastened each piece of copy together with Scotch tape, attached them to the galley sheet, added a little note about not being sure where I was and not wishing them to be lost, and suspended all of them from the ceiling, probably at the risk of life and limb. Come to think of it, life must have been pretty dull around here before she joined us!

Another co-worker who keeps us chuckling, as all readers of this column must know, is Shirley Bay, of our Domestic Department, and one of her latest stories concerns her trip to the World's Fair when she assisted in chaperoning the very excellent East Stroudsburg School Band.

Shirley and her husband were thrilled when the band made such a wonderful appearance before hundreds of Fair visitors. Some of their excitement was due to the fact that their daughter was to play an oboe solo. She had a new instrument, and had been practicing like mad for days. The great moment finally arrived, but just as the solo began, a plane flew over — low and loud. Says Shirley, "We could see her fingers flying, and that was it. We never did hear a note."

As I reflect upon Shirley and Marlene and their flair for making people chuckle, I reach one conclusion regarding them. Shirley is a girl to whom funny, maddening frustrating things are always happening. Marlene, on the other hand, is something that happens to other people. Thank heaven for both of them!

This 'n That from Here 'n There

Need any cups or saucers? The average home usually does, because of the breakage to everyday dishes. Right now you can buy a dozen white cups and saucers, formerly 25c each, for just 2.00, from the Clearance Table in our Home Furnishings Department. . . . If you need special hangers for the drip-dry garments you must hang up soaking, our Notions Department sells a set of three, clear plastic, in a plastic container for just 3.00. These cannot possibly stain wet material as wooden hangers sometimes do. . . . Also in our Notions Department, we have gold plated aids to the home manicurist. Fashioned with mother-of-pearl base, these hold a bottle of polish and have a firm rest designed to hold each finger steady as polish is applied. The price . . . 1.00. . . This same department sells a woman's "bosom friend". Believe it or not, that's the name on the box. Inside is a white silk "envelope" with elastic rings attached. They may be used to hold the envelope, with its contents of money or treasured jewelry, inside a woman's bra. WHAT NEXT? . . . Ah yes, here's something: a tiny "First Aid" kit about the size of a long, narrow 5c stamp. It is gift, and contains: a small package of aspirin, an ammonia inhalant, a bandaid, and a tiny plastic bottle for pills. Nothing like being prepared, and just 1.00! We have other pill boxes at the same price, and matching containers with plastic rain caps enclosed. . . . And at 1.00 and 1.98 we have many new easel-type picture frames. Some are antique; some have rhinestone or pearl trim. All of these are in our International Gift Center.

THE CHAMPAGNE GOLFER

They call him Champagne Tony Lema and it's no misnomer. But some people believe that the 36-year-old native Californian has—because of his tag—a somewhat unusual night life.

"Not so," says Tony, one of tournament golf's top professionals. "I am a moderate in all things," he adds, leading one to believe that he will not vote for Barry Goldwater in the Presidential election.

"I never stay up real late when I am on the professional circuit. I'd be cutting my own throat if I did."

It was in 1962 when the handsome golfer whizz suddenly blossomed into national prominence. He was official champion in California's Orange County and the Mobile Opens, the unofficial Sahara Invitational and the non-tour Mexican Open for the second year in a row and was runnerup at Seattle and Bakersfield.

He also had picked up a nickname which is destined to stick with him the rest of his golf career.

Tony had taken the third-round lead in the Orange County Open and was talking to golf writers in the press room at the Mesa Verde Country Club. He concluded the interview by saying:

"Fellows, if I win tomorrow, we'll have champagne in here."

Lema won in a nerve-racking, three-hole sudden-death playoff against Bob Rosburg. The champagne flowed in the press room. He became Champagne Tony Lema overnight.

Pocomo residents and vacationers of this resort area will be able to see Lema in action Aug. 14 at Glen Brook Country Club in a Thunderbird Classic exhibition. He will compete against three of the area's top golf pros—Paul Patten of Glen Brook, Hal Dymond of Scranton CC, and Bill Boorman of Shawnee Inn.

The exhibition will be preceded by a golf clinic at 1:30 p.m. The 18-hole tournament will start at 2 p.m.

The colorful event is being sponsored by the Ford Dealers Assn. (Lema is the 1964 winner of the Thunderbird Classic) and the General Hospital of Monroe County. Proceeds from the exhibition will go to the hospital.

Lema's victory in the Thunderbird this year netted him $20,000. He later won the coveted British Open, adding thousands more to his treasure chest for this year.

He collected $67,112 in 1963 and is well on his way toward passing that figure this year.

Referring to his recent good fortunes, Lema credits his emergence as a tournament star to "a winning mental attitude."

"I have forced myself to accept the good with the bad," explains Tony. "Now, I'm not so enthusiastic about a hot round, nor too depressed about a cold one. I decided that blowing my top was killing my chances of making it big in golf."

Gene Sarazen, one of golf's all-time greats, says of Tony: "Of all the golfers I've ever seen, this is the one guy closest to Walter Hagen when it comes to color, and, like Hagen, he loves to have a bit of fun, too."

HOT DOG! — Ricky Lee, 10-year-old Little Leaguer from Shawnee, was among youngsters who were treated to refreshments and a ballgame Sunday between Bushkill and the Stroudsburg A's as guest of the Bushkill ball club at Bushkill. Ricky takes in an eyeful and mouthful at same time.

Galimore, Farrington Killed

Curve Sign Is Downed--

And Two Bears Are Dead

RENSSELAER, Ind. (AP)—Bunkin Road is a strip of asphalt swerving through cornfields from this Indiana farm town.

On it, two miles west of the Chicago Bears' training camp at St. Joseph's College, is a highly dangerous turn. The arrow-pointing curve sign had been knocked down two weeks ago and never set back.

If it had been, star halfback Willie Galimore and pass catcher and John Farrington of the Bears might yet be alive.

Their small car, with an open sun-roof, skidded out of control and flipped about 10:30 p.m. Sunday. They shot through the road and were killed.

Galimore, 26, was a star player last March and she is an expectant mother.

Galimore, one of the most feared break-away runners in the league, was looking great in practice. At the end of the 1962 season, he had both knees operated on. He had a fine year, mainly as a spot player, last season.

Sat. And Stared

Many of the Bear players did not know of the tragedy until morning. They sat and stared. Defensive halfback Bernie McRae said he almost went to Willie and Bo to the country club.

"I got a call from the sheriff's office about curfew time at 11 p.m. He said two of my players had been in an accident and I should go to the hospital. I didn't know then who they were."

"When I arrived at the hospital, I saw a doctor standing over Bo (Farrington's nickname) and I thought he was being treated."

Both Dead

"He's dead," said the doctor. Then I looked around the room and I saw Galimore. He's dead, too," said the doctor.

"This is the saddest day. The most difficult thing I ever had to do was call Audrey (Galimore's widow and mother of three) in Tallahassee, Fla., and Bo's wife, Vivian, in Houston. They broke down. Audrey is flying in. I don't know what Vivian will do yet."

The Farrington's were married last March and she is an expectant mother.

Hutchinson In Hospital 'For Tests'

CINCINNATI (AP)—Fred Hutchinson, the 44-year-old manager of the Cincinnati Reds, is fighting a chest cancer, passed up the start of a road trip by his team Monday and went into a hospital "for tests."

The announcement from the Reds' front office said Hutchinson probably would be there several days and that Coach Dick Sisler would be in charge of the club during his absence.

The Reds, 3 1/2 games out of first place in the National League, were in Milwaukee Monday night for the opening of a series.

William O. DeWitt, president and general manager of the Reds, said Hutchinson has been bothered considerably by pains in his back.

He said Hutchinson felt he should check before the start of the road trip and that Dr. George Ballou, Cincinnati team physician, advised him to enter Christ Hospital.

Combing Waiver Lists

Phils' Big Worries: Southpaws, Giants

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The National League leading Philadelphia Phillies have two pressing problems—the second place San Francisco Giants and their own inability to beat southpaws.

Manager Gene Mauch and General Manager John Quinn are well aware that the Phils

Take the last 20 games for example. The pitcher of record against the Phils in 14 of these games has been a southpaw. Of the club's first 12 defeats, 10 have been by left-handers.

By tossing in left-handers, the other clubs keep the Phils predominantly left-hand power on the bench.

Ironically, the Phils are most vulnerable to the left-handers at home. Statistics show their record is 7-13 against them at Connie Mack Stadium, 10-6 on the road. Against right-handers they are 18-5 at home, 21-16 on the road.

Cellar Squads Play At 'Fame'

COOPERTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—Seven players, including Luke Appling, were inducted into baseball's Hall of Fame Monday and then the New York Mets and Washington Senators played the annual exhibition game, this time for 20th place in the major leagues.

The Mets, 10th in the National League, lost to the Senators, 10th in the American League, 6-4 at Doubleday Field where Gen. Abner Doubleday is said to have laid blueprints for the game.

Place Plaques
Appling, a two-time American League batting champion for the Chicago White Sox, and six old timers were inducted and their plaques placed in the Hall during ceremonies conducted by Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick before the game.

Appling, still active as a coach with the Kansas City A's, played 20 years with the White Sox and compiled a .310 lifetime average. He led the league with a .388 average in 1936 and .325 in 1943.

And Long Syne
The soft strains of And Long Syne played as he and the others—Hennie Maunich, Burleigh Grimes, Red Faber, Miller Huggins, Tim Lincecum and John Montgomery Ward were inducted.

Appling was elected by the Baseball Writers Association of America last year. The others were selected by the Old Timers' Committee, and their induction swells the Hall's membership to 101.

Four Attend
All the new members still living, Appling, Maunich, Grimes and Faber, attended. The deceased, Huggins, Keefe and Ward, were represented by members of their family.

In the annual Hall of Fame exhibition game, George Altman and Larry Elliott hit home runs for the Mets. Elliott's came with one man on in the ninth.

The Senators raked two Met pitchers for 15 hits, went in front with two in the first inning and were never in trouble.

No Relief
Mauch knows there is not much relief in sight. San Francisco opens a three game series Tuesday night with lefty Billy O'Dell. Juan Marichal, a right-hander, is slated for the second game, but Bob Hendley, another southpaw, is being readied for the third.

Mauch has gone to extremes to get right-hand hitters in the lineup. But still no power. Catcher Gus Triandos played first base Sunday to get more right-hand power into the lineup. It didn't help. Triandos went hitless.

The only consistent right-hand hitter third baseman Richie Allen, hitting .313 with 17 home runs.

Atlanta Seeks Grid Tenant

Associated Press Sports Writer ATLANTA (AP) — Atlanta didn't get the St. Louis Cardinals, so the disappointed city is resuming immediately its search to find a professional football tenant for its $18 million "Now we'll just begin again and we'll start immediately," said Opie Shelton, executive director of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce. "Atlanta has everything to offer."

"Naturally, we're disappointed," said Arthur L. Montgomery, chairman of the Atlanta-Fulton County Recreation Authority, which is leading the drive to build the stadium. "But we haven't given up. We still feel that we will get a good team."

Cy Barrett Says

Parachuting For Sport

Our teen-age daughter is working in the Boston area this summer and wrote a letter home which had explosive effects. Her P.S. said: "Am I lucky! My date is taking me parachute jumping next week!" We phoned her and she condescendingly agreed not to leap out of airplanes.

She did sell us, however, on the idea parachute jumping is a growing sport. As our company manufactures some items which could be adapted to parachute jumping, perhaps you can tell me something about the sport?

FINN

DEAR FINN: Parachuting is a young sport which has been flying high across the U.S.A. In 1956, when the Parachuting Club of America was incorporated, there were 200 active, free fall parachutists. As of now, the count is 50,000 active, free fall parachutists, 10,000 of whom are serious enough to be club members.

Sport parachuting must be differentiated from parachuting in general by the fact that it includes free fall descent with some directional control, before the canopy is opened. Control in free fall was unknown in America until the late '40s, when pioneering experiments were made by civilian and military personnel.

By 1954, Sgt. Fred Mason had learned enough to undertake a personal mission to the World Parachuting Championships in St. Yan, France. He placed in the bottom half of the field, but

American Diplomats Resume Futile Talks With Chinese

By Richard Spong
WASHINGTON — John Moors Cabot, U. S. ambassador to Poland, met his Chinese Communist opposite number, Wang Kuo-chan, in Warsaw on Wednesday July 29.

The paradox of the long ambassadorial dialogue between the United States and Red China is that although it has accomplished very little since the first meeting on June 5, 1954, both parties must consider the decade of negotiation worthwhile, or the talks would have been dropped long ago.

They have been conducted as enthusiastically under the Kennedy and Johnson administrations as they were under the Eisenhower administration—but enthusiastic is perhaps too strong a word.

The two parties were brought together by the British in Geneva, when Communist China was represented in the conferences on Korea and Indo-China by Wang Pingnan and the United States by U. Alexis Johnson, now deputy ambassador to South Viet Nam.

They met four times in June 1954 and then, turned the talks over to subordinates, who met 17 more times that year.

The principal topic was the 75 Americans then being held in Red China and the 60 or 70 Chinese students barred from leaving the United States during the Korean War. Each side released some of the other's nationals.

A more formal series of talks was inaugurated in Geneva on Aug. 1, 1955 through the offices of Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India, and U Nu, then premier of Burma.

The talks have been numbered ever since. The one in Warsaw on Wednesday will be the 121st.

At the 14th meeting, on Sept. 10, 1955, China and the United States reached an "agreed statement" to release their hostages. Britain and India were to serve as referees.

Execution of that agreement is still under debate, and four U. S. citizens still rot in Chinese jails.

The talks were moved to Warsaw in 1958. Wang was Chinese ambassador to Poland, and Johnson was replaced by Jacob D. Beam, U. S. ambassador to Poland.

Beam gave way to John Moors Cabot late in 1961, and Wang had been replaced by Wang Kuo-chan since the 120th session in Warsaw last April.

Why continue these meetings in Warsaw's Mysliewicki Palace? The subject matter is not disclosed, but it is known that the major item is a mutual charge of aggression.

Red China complains of American "occupation" of Taiwan. The United States comes back with charges of aggression in Viet Nam, Laos, and the Taiwan Strait. Each claims its acts are only defense.

Since the meeting last April the United States has been hinting of "going north," which is shorthand for carrying the Vietnamese action to North Viet Nam.

15,000 Attend Plainfield Fair

BANGOR — Crowds of more than 5,000 a day flocked the three-day Plainfield Twp. Farmers Fair during its operation at Achenbach's Grove on Rt. 191, five miles south of Bangor. The fair ended Saturday.

This was the first time in the history of the fair that it was held for three days. Elwood Lieberman, treasurer of the Plainfield Twp. Fair Assn., said. The exhibition was sponsored by the association and featured cattle judging, a safe tractor driving contest and a tractor pulling contest.

PUT A TIGER IN YOUR TANK!

NEW HIGH-ENERGY ESSO EXTRA GASOLINE BOOSTS POWER THREE WAYS:

1 Cleaning Power! Dirt can clog even a new carburetor in a few months of normal operation—causing hard starting and rough idling. Your very first tankful of New Esso Extra will start to clear away these deposits—in new engines or old—to improve power and mileage.

2 Firing Power! Spark plug and cylinder deposits can cause misfiring, pre-ignition and hot spots. New Esso Extra neutralizes these harmful deposits—to help your engine fire smoothly, to help preserve the power of new cars and restore lost power to many older cars.

3 Octane Power! New Esso Extra has the high octane that most cars now need for full smooth performance without knocking. You'll get all these extras with New Power-Formula Esso Extra gasoline—it puts a tiger in your tank! Happy Motoring!
